

A horizontal scroll with a light brown, textured surface, resembling aged parchment. The scroll is unrolled, showing a central rectangular area with a slightly darker, mottled brown background. The edges of the scroll are irregular and torn, giving it an antique appearance. The scroll is held by two wooden rollers, one on the left and one on the right, which are visible as vertical cylinders with decorative finials at the top and bottom. The background is a light gray and white checkerboard pattern.
